the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 16.5 million by 2020, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 8.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000). The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is expected to be due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the birth rate, a decline in the death rate, and a decline in the rate of emigration.

The increase in the number of people aged 65 and over is expected to have a significant impact on the UK's health and social care system. The number of people aged 65 and over who are in need of health and social care services is expected to increase from 1.5 million in 1990 to 2.5 million in 2020 (Office of National Statistics 2000). This increase is expected to be due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the birth rate, a decline in the death rate, and a decline in the rate of emigration.

A year passes . . . too quickly for some, not quick enough for others. For each student the year held memories to cherish or maybe incidents to forget. These memories will linger but the year is gone.

Seniors can boast with pride over accomplishments or sigh with regret over wasted moments.

Underclassmen will have other years. Years for . . . meeting new friends, learning new concepts, honors, Homecomings, dating, a chance to reach the rank of senior.

It was a year to remember . . . cheering at the games, winning and losing, dancing with someone special, joining clubs, writing term papers and cramming for finals, enduring or enjoying classes.

The year passed and we will remember it.

Clubs Profit From School Carnival

The annual school carnival was held on November 14. All booths were set up and ready to operate by 4:30 pm. The individual organizations had two students and their sponsor present at all times to accept money from the public. The organizations had no booth commitment except to dismantle it at the end of the carnival.

Initiation Of Changes Successful

The student Council accomplished many of the goals they set out to achieve. Because of their hard work, the new class flags are proudly displayed in the gym and the class jerseys are worn by students boasting of their year of graduation. The colors are Seniors: Black and Gold; Juniors: Blue and Gold; Sophomores: Red and White; Freshmen: Green and White.

One of the main projects of the Student Council was the presentation of the annual Homecoming Dance, "Autumn Enchantment." The highlight of the dance was the large multi-colored tree with each leaf bearing the names of the couples in attendance. Perhaps, even more important, was the Student Council's ability to co-ordinate the activities between students, faculty, and administration.

Going into the North Newton Invitational our record was 4-4 with wins over Lake Central and Griffith and losses to Crown Point, Merrillville, and Highland. E.G. came in second out of fifteen. The latter part of our season was highlighted by an 8-4 record with wins over Bishop Noll, Lew Wallace, Lowell, Michigan City, St. Mary's, and River Forest. The climax was brought about when we sponsored and won the E. G. Invitational. Also, we were honored by being asked to participate at the Hobart Invitational for the first time in the history of our school and finished twelfth of twenty-five. Conference and Sectional finishes were 6 of 11 and 9 of 17-respectively.

To The Lead, Forward Never Backward!

Senior Class Officers: President Keith Gaza, Vice President Dale Johnson, Secretary Mary Jackson, Treasurer Debbie Smenyak, Boy Representative Norman Arfleck, Girl Representative Nat Mayoch.

That forever-dreamed-about, fourth and finishing year arrived and the class of '70 at East Gary Edison engaged in making the most of it.

Senior moods were ebullient and lively during homecoming. First place in hall competition was awarded to the mighty Senior class for their spirited work. The 1969-70 Homecoming Dance theme, "Autumn Enchantment," typified the feelings of many.

Memories and bits and pieces of all the hardships and joys that made "happiness" an everyday word will linger with the class of '70.

Juniors, Accepting New Responsibility

The juniors returned to EHS eager to face the coming year. Their school spirit was evident when they tied with the freshman class in the annual float competition for first place. The float motto was "Hang 'em High."

The class of '71 sponsored car washes and bake sales as they anticipated prom expenses. After much consideration they agreed on "Three coins in the Fountain" as a theme. This dance offered a romantic time for all.

As the year closes the juniors are ready to be next year's seniors.

The prize possession of a Junior is his class ring, the sign of an upperclassman.

A Sophomore's Major Goal Is Learning

The officers of the sophomore class for 1969—1970 are: Gary Szostek, Pres.; Terry Lee, Vice Pres.; Pat Bobrowski, Sec.; Brenda Cannon, Treas.; Sharon Zbrowski, Girl Rep.; John Rock, Boy Rep.

The sophomore soon realizes that school is not for playing around . . . but for getting in some serious studying. He starts thinking about college and choosing his curriculum to match future plans.

With learner's permit firmly in hand the sophomores walked into their drivers education class for the very first time.

Tackling World History and Geometry makes for a hectic pace and kept the sophomores hopping. All hardships were softened by ordering class rings, an insignia of graduation.

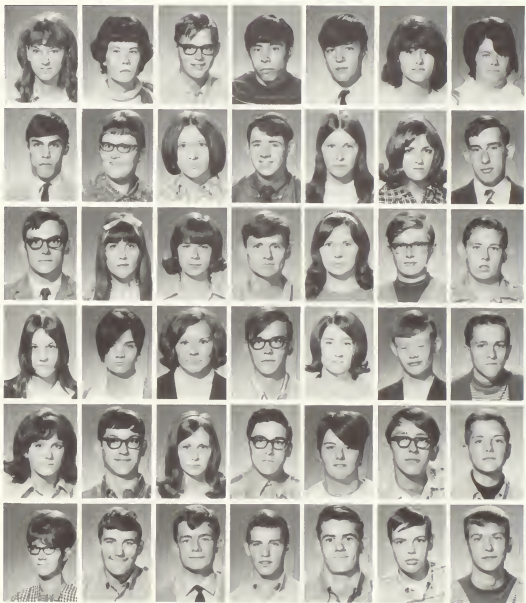

Homeroom Representatives of the Sophomore class are: Pam Waggle, Mike Lewandowski, Bob Dobrowski, and Tom Hodge.

"Eagle Bread Builds Bodies 11 Different Ways", was the theme of sophomore class hall project. Shown admiring their work are Shellee Holman and Terry Lee.

The sophomores move up in the world and become bolder in their actions, no longer do they stay to themselves but form friendships and acquaintances outside of their small groups.

A New Life Begins As A Freshman

The freshman year is for getting adjusted to hectic schedules, making new friends, learning new ideas, throwing away old habits, and being low men on the totem pole.

It was a year to remember for freshmen. First came G.A.A. initiation . . . smelly fish, pigtails, baby diapers, skits and the hot dog roast. Then came Homecoming . . . a first place float, but a last place hall, streamers fell and the floor was cluttered with signs. Last came the end of the year and sophomore status with new people on bottom.

"Bury 'Em Deep" Freshman Float tied with the juniors for first place.

Office Personnel

During the day an office assistant is apt to collect attendance, run errands, make booklets, and operate the office machines.

Closely associated with these people are the guidance office assistants. They can be found making schedule changes, keeping records for the office, and summoning students to see the counselors.

Mr. Loscaro heads the audio-visual department. The main job of the students under his direction is to show films to classes. They also learn how to operate the various types of audio-visual equipment. All these people are an asset to the smooth functioning of Edison Senior High.

Guidance Assistants: J. Rock, J. Kingery, N. Bushemi, E. Garzella.

Library Assistants: ROW 1: B. Fernandez, E. Armes, S. Coleman, N. Mayoch, S. Goodwin, O. Maxwell; ROW 2: S. Vanderlin, P. Dailey, P. Wilson, D. Ellis, Miss Ceglian.

AMERICAN YEARBOOK

Front are Pam Campbell, Deb Smenyak, Cindy Bazin; Back are Shirley Swider, Mary Korpak, and Paula Tokash.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the cultural context of the research. It highlights the need for researchers to be sensitive to the values and beliefs of the communities they are studying. This is particularly important in the field of health research, where cultural differences can significantly impact the effectiveness of interventions.

The second part of the paper presents a review of the literature on cultural competence in health care. It examines the various models and frameworks that have been developed to guide health care providers in delivering culturally appropriate care. The review also identifies the challenges and barriers to achieving cultural competence in practice.

The third part of the paper describes the methodology used in the study. It details the selection of participants, the data collection methods, and the analysis techniques. The study was conducted in a community-based setting, and the data were collected through a series of focus group discussions and individual interviews.

The fourth part of the paper presents the findings of the study. It discusses the themes that emerged from the data and the implications for practice. The findings suggest that there is a need for more culturally sensitive health care services and that health care providers should receive training in cultural competence.

The fifth part of the paper discusses the limitations of the study and suggests areas for future research. It acknowledges that the study was limited to a specific community and that the findings may not be generalizable to other populations. Future research should aim to explore the cultural context of health care in other communities and to develop more effective interventions.

In conclusion, the paper emphasizes the importance of cultural competence in health care and the need for researchers to be sensitive to the cultural context of their research. It calls for more research on this topic and for the development of more culturally appropriate health care services.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the cultural context of the research. It highlights the need for researchers to be sensitive to the values and beliefs of the communities they are studying. This is particularly important in the field of education, where cultural differences can significantly impact learning outcomes and classroom management.

The second part of the paper focuses on the methodology used in the study. It describes the qualitative approach adopted, which involves in-depth interviews and focus group discussions. The researchers aimed to explore the experiences and perspectives of the participants in their own words, rather than imposing a pre-defined framework.

The third part of the paper presents the findings of the study. It identifies several key themes that emerged from the data, such as the role of family in education and the influence of community norms. The researchers also discuss the implications of these findings for educational practice and policy.

The final part of the paper concludes with a summary of the main points and offers suggestions for further research. It emphasizes the importance of continued dialogue and collaboration between researchers and the communities they study, in order to ensure that research is both relevant and impactful.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the cultural context of the research. It highlights the need for researchers to be sensitive to the values and beliefs of the communities they are studying. This is particularly important in the field of health care, where cultural differences can significantly impact patient outcomes and the effectiveness of interventions.

The second part of the paper reviews the literature on cultural competence in health care. It examines the various models and frameworks that have been developed to guide the development of culturally competent health care providers. The review also identifies the challenges and barriers to achieving cultural competence in practice.

The third part of the paper presents the findings of a study that explored the cultural beliefs and practices of a specific community. The study used a qualitative approach, involving in-depth interviews with community members and focus group discussions. The findings revealed a range of cultural beliefs and practices that influenced health care decisions and outcomes.

The fourth part of the paper discusses the implications of the study findings for health care practice. It emphasizes the need for health care providers to tailor their interventions to the cultural beliefs and practices of the communities they serve. This may involve providing education and training to health care providers, as well as developing culturally appropriate health care services.

The final part of the paper concludes with a summary of the key findings and a call to action for the health care community. It urges researchers, practitioners, and policymakers to work together to address the cultural needs of diverse communities and to improve the quality of health care for all.
